Another C. V. Wreck.

A score or more passengers were scalded or severely shaken up in a collision on the Central Vermont railroad yesterday between the Boston and Maine express which left Boston at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening for Montreal and a freight train at Randolph. No person was killed, but Mary Magee of Lowell, Mass., was so seriously scalded that she may not recover.

A Serious Accident.

The most serious accident that has occurred in this vicinity for a long time took place Thursday. Mrs. Arthur Brown of Brownington Center and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank Wells of Clinton, Mass., were driving from Brownington to Barton. Opposite the home of C. T. Miles, who purchased the A. J. Smith farm, they met an automobile. The driver of the automobile was very careful to pass slowly, giving them a large share of the road. The horse shied but not very badly. After reining up into the road Mrs. Brown used the whip somewhat, at which the horse broke into a run. Being down grade and a large strong horse Mrs. Brown was unable to check him. The horse continued to run while the grade grew steeper and steeper for nearly a half a mile until the William Telfer place was reached. At that point the team became more unmanageable and ran out into the ditch. The express wagon struck a rock about three feet high that jutted a little out from the bank breaking the spokes of both the forward and hind wheels, the occupants were hurled an almost incredible distance down the hill onto the hard road. Mrs. Wells struck with such violence that she was unconscious from a severe concussion of the brain. Mrs. Brown was hurt less severely, though she had an ankle bone broken and was otherwise injured. Not aware of the nature of her own serious injury she walked a long distance for help. When help arrived Mrs. Wells still lay in the road unconscious. She was taken to the home of Miss Sophia L. Drew and surgical help summoned. It was a severe shock to Mrs. L. J. Brown, the mother of Mrs. Wells, and Miss Drew to see Mrs. Wells and Mrs. Brown brought in so severely injured, when they expected them to come soon in health and good spirits. Mrs. Wells' face and head are very badly bruised. Her greatest injury is the severe concussion of the brain due to striking the hard road when thrown from the wagon. During Friday, Saturday and Sunday her consciousness only partially returned. Her husband came from Clinton, Mass., to be with her over Sunday. His work was such on the railroad that he had to return Sunday night. Miss Gibson, a trained nurse from St. Johnsbury is taking care of Mrs. Wells. Mrs. Arthur Brown is at her home in Brownington Center. Eye witnesses say that no blame can be attached to the automobile. The injured and their families have the deepest sympathy of their friends.

SUMMER TIME SCHEDULE MONDAY.

The summer train service on the Boston & Maine railroad goes into effect Monday, next. In response to the editorial squib in the Monitor last week, calling attention to the fact that last year it was impossible for the public to learn anything of the changes until they had taken place, and resulted in great inconvenience and loss of time, E. L. Wells of Lyndonville, district passenger agent of the Passumpsic division, furnishes the Monitor with the following train schedule for Barton. It will be noted that the morning mail and express south go much earlier and the evening express also goes earlier. The New York flyer will stop, going north in the morning, and the accommodation train has been taken off.

Saw Bear in Willoughby Lake.

Tuesday evening of last week while Dr. Jenkins and Royal Eggleston were trolling at the south end of Willoughby lake they saw a black bear swimming across the lake, not far from the rock known as Devil's Den. They rowed up to Bruin, and tried to scrape acquaintance with his lordship, but he evidently had plenty of business of his own to attend to and did not seem impressed with his callers. The men had no weapons with them and so after a little discussion Mr. Bear finished his swim, climbed the shore and disappeared in the darkness. They estimated the bear's weight about one hundred and twenty-five or fifty pounds.

WILL BUY CRUSHER AND ROLLER.

At a fairly well attended special village meeting held in Seaver's hall last evening it was voted to buy a stone crusher and steam roller for use on the streets of Barton village. It was pointed out by the trustees that the natural road material supply of gravel was exhausted, so far as its practical use was concerned, and that it was very expensive to hire road work done by contracting engineers. A fifteen per cent tax for buying the machines will be raised this year and the remainder of the money borrowed. The machines will be purchased soon and work on the streets begun.

Barton 10, Frontiers 2.

The Frontiers went down to their defeat before Carroll Webster's shoots Saturday, June 17. The attendance was small, barely 100 fans witnessing the slaughter of the "Border Boys." Step Girard, the circus catcher, and Lucky were absent from the Frontiers' lineup. The battery work and Joker's work both at the 1st station and with the willow was a feature of the Frontier team work. Barton boys played the modern game, Dana and Lee featuring in the fielding, the former grabbing a hot one from the bat with one paw that robbed the batter of a hit, much to the regret of the 100 loyal rooters that braved the threatening weather. Umpire Bishop officiated with all the efficiency of a Hurst (not Dick but Tim). The detail of the affair appears below.

Score by innings	r	h	e
1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Frontiers	0	0	0	0	2	0	0	2	8	0
Barton	1	0	2	4	2	0	1	0	10	14	2

Summary—Base on balls, off Abby of Carroll Webster; struck out by Abby 13, by Webster 7, passed ball, Barrows, umpire, Bishop, time of game, 2:15.
